

The UK has a higher proportion of its population in relative low income than most other EU countries

Source: Eurostat; the data is for 2006 and is before deducting housing costs; updated Jan 2008