

The only group where the number of low-income people is higher than a decade ago is working-age adults without dependent children

Source: Households Below Average Income, DWP; Great Britain; updated Aug 2009