

Tax credits now take around 1 million children in working families out of low income - but a million more children need this support than a decade ago

Source: Households Below Average Income, DWP; Great Britain; updated Oct 2008