

Babies born to parents from manual social backgrounds are now only a bit more likely to have a low birthweight than those born to parents from non-manual social backgrounds

Source: Child mortality statistics, ONS; England & Wales; updated Mar 2011