

30% of homes in England are classified as non-decent, substantially less than in the mid-1990s

For each tenure, proportion of dwellings which do not meet the decent homes standard

Source: English Housing Survey, DCLG; England; updated Jul 2011