

The proportion of dwellings which are very energy inefficient is much higher in the most rural areas

Source: English Housing Survey, DCLG; the data is the average for the three years to 2009; England; updated Jul 2011