

4 million households in England were classified as being in fuel poverty in 2009, much higher than a few years ago but still lower than in the mid-1990s

Source: English Housing Survey, DCLG; England; updated Jul 2011