

A quarter of people think that their local area has been getting worse over time compared with only one in ten who think it has been getting better

Source: English Housing Survey, DCLG; England; updated Jan 2011