

The average number of missing, filled or decayed teeth is far higher among children from low-income households than for other children

Source: Children's Oral Health in Ireland, 2002