

Whilst the proportion of households in rural districts who have no bank or building society account has fallen over the last decade, the rate of reduction has been much slower than that in urban districts

Source: Family Resources Survey, DWP; England; updated Nov 2010