

All parts of Scotland except Forth Valley have, on average, more missing, decayed or filled teeth among their 5-year-olds than the England and Wales average

Source: British Association for the Study of Community Dentistry; the data is for 2005/06; updated April 2007