

People who are working are at much lower risk of mental illness than those who are either unemployed or long-term sick or disabled

Source: British Household Panel Survey, University of Essex, Institute for Social and Economic Research; the data is the average for the five years to 2008/09; updated Jul 2010