

According to the 2001 Census, Scotland has a much higher proportion of overcrowded households than anywhere else in Great Britain apart from London

