

The proportion of low income households lacking selected consumer durables has fallen considerably since the early 1990s

Source: British Household Panel Survey, University of Essex, Institute for Social and Economic Research; updated Jul 2009