

In the last few years, the annual number of children permanently excluded from school has halved, fallen around 400 to around 200

Source: National Assembly for Wales; updated Mar 2011