

The authorities with the highest proportion of households lacking central heating are in the rural North West

