

The proportion of people in low-income households in Scotland is now much lower than the Great Britain average

Proportion of the population in households below 60% of median income after deducting housing costs

Source: Households Below Average Income, DWP; updated Aug 2010