

Destinations of school leavers: Over the last decade, while the proportion of school leavers entering higher or further education has risen steadily, the proportion entering training has more than halved.

