

Two fifths of those with a work-limiting disability are working. A further fifth would like to work.

